Gray Plant Mooty Named to Honor Roll of BTI Consulting Group’s Litigation Outlook 2019

October 18, 2018

MINNEAPOLIS (Oct. 18, 2018) — Gray Plant Mooty has been named to the Honor Roll of BTI Consulting Group's eighth annual Litigation Outlook for 2019. The report, based entirely on client feedback, surveyed 350 corporate counsels from leading organizations, who identified firms that display a deep understanding of clients' changing demands and expectations.

Gray Plant Mooty was recognized in three separate areas of Litigation: Complex Employment Litigation, Complex Commercial Litigation, and Everyday Commercial Litigation.

"Gray Plant Mooty is honored that our client partners cited us for this recognition," said Co-Managing Officer Charles Maier. "Our inclusion in this elite list reflects our firm's commitment to excellence in client service."

BTI has previously recognized Gray Plant Mooty and its attorneys in many of its legal rankings and guides. In January, the firm was named to the 2018 BTI "Client Service A-Team" list for the eighth consecutive year. In May, BTI named Gray Plant Mooty a "Brand Elite" law firm, recognizing excellence in the core areas of Client Experience, Premium Worth, and Innovation, as well as nine key branding measures.
