Law Week Colorado

Law Week Colorado recently featured the firm's new Denver office location with newly released images of the space in Block 162 and quotes from Partner Patrick McRorie on the design.

The future of workplaces is changing, and Lathrop GPM's new Denver office seeks to meet new employee needs and wants.

"Our people are at the core of this move," said Patrick McRorie. "We are excited to embrace an entirely new design that gives us flexibility to be innovative and will allow us to provide the highest level of client service for many years to come."
