Missouri Lawyers Media recently spoke with Emily Cantwell, Partner in Charge of the firm's St. Louis office, on the firm's new office space.

Lathrop GPM has moved its St. Louis office to The Plaza at Clayton on July 1. The new space, 16,023 square feet on the 14th floor, is also close to restaurants, public transportation, retail shops, and is adjacent to the Ritz Carlton.

Cantwell said the impact the move has had on employee morale has been "nothing but positive."

"We are seeing an increased number of people coming into the office, as opposed to what we were seeing when we were in our old space," Cantwell said. "I do think the change of scenery and the excitement that was around the move really has done nothing but increased morale in the most positive of ways."
