Lathrop GPM Partner Malaika Tyson Named Among the 2025 Lawdragon 500 Leading Global IP Lawyers

06/11/2025 | less than a minute

Chicago (June 11, 2025) — Lathrop GPM Partner Malaika Tyson, Ph.D. was named to Lawdragon's inaugural 500 Leading Global IP Lawyers for 2025. Tyson is one of 500 intellectual property attorneys from around the world who were selected based on journalistic research, submissions and vetting with experts.

Tyson assists clients with the strategic management of intellectual property by providing patent and trademark prosecution, competitive intellectual property analysis and portfolio management, trade secret program development and management of complex, multi-faceted intellectual property transactions. She also has experience with post-grant proceedings, patent litigation and European Patent Office patent opposition practice. She represents clients in various areas – particularly in the life science, biotechnology, pharmaceutical, chemical and material sciences and consumer goods industries.

The inaugural edition highlights the rocket scientists, Ph.D.'s, military weapons experts, cancer researchers and engineers who turned their vision to the law. They work with entrepreneurs to nurture patent portfolios, monetize and license them, protect trade secrets and engage in the highest profile litigation over technology, trademarks and other intellectual gold around which the world economy revolves.
