Jami Shipman handles all aspects of federal income taxation, including entity formation and dissolution, corporate reorganization, S corporation issues, partnership and limited liability company issues, and tax disputes with the IRS. Jami has significant experience in rendering tax advice with respect to structuring and negotiating mergers and acquisitions.

Jami also advises public charities, private foundations, social welfare and other tax-exempt organizations on a variety of legal issues and transactions, including qualification for exempt status, charitable contributions, intermediate sanctions, private foundation rules, unrelated business income tax, for-profit subsidiaries, lobbying and political activities, and corporate governance.

In addition to handling federal income tax matters, Jami has substantial experience in dealing with state and local income, sales and use, franchise and other state taxes.

Prior to attending law school, Jami worked for two years as a staff accountant for the accounting firm BKD where he performed audits of companies in various industries, including construction, banking, manufacturing, and employee benefit plans.

Jami is currently an Assistant Professor at Rockhurst University.
