Counsel | lisbeth.robinson@lathropgpm.com

Lisbeth C. Robinson, Ph.D. is a patent attorney focusing her practice on patent preparation and prosecution in the chemical and life sciences industries. Lisbeth aids clients in all domestic and international patent portfolio development aspects, including conducting patentability and freedom-to-operate analyses. As a former patent examiner, Lisbeth possesses a unique blend of legal and technical expertise to add value and maximize the return on investment for clients.

Lisbeth was the first JD/Ph.D. graduate of the Joint Degree Program in Law, Health and the Life Sciences of the University of Minnesota, earning both a Ph.D. in Pharmacology and JD in 2008. Before joining Lathrop GPM, Lisbeth was a senior patent attorney at a Minneapolis firm.
