Eric D. Sidler

Partner | eric.sidler@lathrogpm.com

Eric Sidler focuses his practice on intellectual property litigation and counseling. He is a trusted advisor and advocate who represents clients in a wide range of industries—including consumer products, manufacturing, financial services, agribusiness, and entertainment—in complex patent, trademark, copyright, trade secret, false advertising, and domain-name disputes in courts and administrative tribunals throughout the United States. Eric's experience includes representing clients in opposition and cancellation proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB) and in inter partes review (IPR) proceedings before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board (PTAB). Eric also advises clients on brand management issues—including trademark and domain-name registration, maintenance, enforcement, and licensing strategies—as well as copyright registration, enforcement, and licensing issues.

In addition to his IP litigation and counseling experience, Eric has significant experience representing clients in various other types of complex civil disputes—including insurance coverage, employment, shareholder, contract, and business tort disputes. Eric previously represented major insurance companies in third-party liability insurance coverage disputes in federal and state courts throughout the United States. He also served as a law clerk to Judge Lynn J. Bush of the U.S. Court of Federal Claims; in this role, he gained valuable insight into the judicial process and knowledge of the subject matter within the Court of Federal Claims' exclusive jurisdiction, including patent and copyright claims against the United States.
