

Attorney-Client Privilege Issues for In-House Counsel

June 11, 2014

Firm Event

Radisson Blu Minneapolis

In-House counsel may wear many hats within an entity. Not only does that complicate the attorney's ability to protect the entity's privilege, but constituents of an organization are often unaware of how an attorney's role affects the application of the attorney-client privilege. This seminar will cover several in-house privilege issues and offer guidance on how to protect the privilege.
