Overtime, Salary, Joint Employers, and More: Department of Labor in Your Business Again

May 30, 2019

Firm Event

The Department of Labor has been very busy lately issuing not one, not two, but three new proposed rules regarding the salary basis test, the regular rate of pay, and joint employer liability. The Department has also issued several new opinion letters that will impact wage-and-hour practices at companies across nearly every industry. Join Gray Plant Mooty attorney Dorrie Larison for a breakfast briefing to learn how to navigate these new regulatory rules and receive guidance on how to prepare your workplace for these and other challenging wage-and-hour issues.
