July 9, 2014

Gray Plant Mooty principal Mark Kirsch recently co-authored a chapter on due diligence in the ABA Forum on Franchising's new book, Mergers and Acquisitions of Franchise Companies. Click here to read the chapter online.

The book addresses a wide range of legal and practical concerns that can impact franchise practitioners and other non-franchise attorneys involved in the transaction. Additional topics covered include real estate, trademark, and tax considerations that may arise through the course of the M&A process.

Kirsch practices in Gray Plant Mooty's Franchise M&A practice group, which regularly represents franchise buyers and sellers in exploring, negotiating, and executing M&A transactions. While every transaction offers its own legal complexities, attorneys in the Franchise M&A group bring a wide range of interdisciplinary expertise that can take on any challenge.
