

Proposed Patent Law Rules Could Make Kansas More Attractive For Patent Enforcement

November 22, 2016

The United States District Court of Kansas is considering adopting rules that would formalize the way in which patent cases are litigated in Kansas. Lathrop Gage intellectual property partners Dave Barnard and Cameron Garrison recently spoke with the Kansas City Business Journal about these proposed rules and their potential impact. You can read their thoughts here.