

Law 360 Features Article by Patricia Silva on Mental Health in the Legal Industry

June 9, 2020

Lathrop GPM attorney Patricia Lehtinen Silva emphasizes the importance of mental health and how the isolation of the COVID-19 pandemic and the trauma of the recent killings and protests have increased stressors, especially for minority attorneys, in a recent article she wrote for Law360. In "Mental Health Efforts Will Support Diversity in Legal Industry" Patty discusses the role law firms and in-house departments can play in changing the narrative.