

KSTP Interviews Julia Dayton Klein on Lawsuit Against Private Security at Polling Locations

October 21, 2020

Partner Julia Dayton Klein spoke with Minneapolis and St Paul's KSTP-TV in an on-air story about a lawsuit brought by the Minnesota chapters of the Council on American-Islamic Relations and the League of Women Voters against Atlas Aegis, which sought to hire armed security positioned at Minnesota polls. In the segment, Julia talks about the detrimental impact this can have on voters. The Minnesota Attorney General Keith Ellison is also investigating the matter.
