Lathrop GPM's Partner in Charge of the Minneapolis office Brian Dillon recently spoke with Law.com, taking part in their 'How I Made It' Q&A series. In the article, Dillon expressed just how key certain connections and relationships were for personal and firm success, and offers advice on how to foster those relationships in the hybrid work system.

"I hope my colleagues see me as someone who leads with empathy, who cares about his work and his colleagues, and who is invested in their success," said Dillon.
