

Gray Plant Mooty Named a Community Impact Awards Finalist

January 15, 2014

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (January 15, 2014) — The Minneapolis-based law firm of Gray Plant Mooty is pleased to share that the firm was named a finalist in Minnesota Business magazine's second annual Community Impact Awards. Gray Plant Mooty is a finalist for the Long-term Achievement Award, which recognizes companies that have shown at least ten years of commitment to helping nonprofits or other worthy causes.

In each of the 13 categories, the judges chose leaders and companies with an exceptional track record of giving back and making a positive community impact. The finalists will be profiled in the March 2014 issue of the magazine, and the winner of each category will be announced at a February 27 awards event held at Aria in Minneapolis.

Gray Plant Mooty has a long-standing tradition of community involvement, dating back to 1866 when we first opened our doors. As the longest-standing law firm in Minnesota, Gray Plant Mooty knows that a strong, vibrant community doesn't just happen. It requires ongoing effort by a variety of stakeholders who believe that community service projects enrich the lives of everyone involved. For that reason, GPM has been a longtime advocate of outreach efforts that strengthen communities where GPM employees live and work.
