

Gray Plant Mooty, Slumberland Partner to Fight Hunger

February 10, 2016

MINNEAPOLIS - As part of its 150-year anniversary effort to give back to the community, the law firm of Gray Plant Mooty will partner with Slumberland to pack meals at the Coon Rapids location of Feed My Starving Children on Thursday.

Some 120 participants from the Minneapolis-based law firm and Slumberland are expected to attend to support the non-profit organization.

"Community service has long been a core value of our firm, and we're proud to be partnering with our client Slumberland on this important cause," said Sarah Duniway, managing partner of Gray Plant Mooty. "Gray Plant Mooty's current generation of attorneys and staff views itself as stewards of this great tradition of serving community."

Founded in 1987, Feed My Starving Children is a non-profit Christian organization committed to feeding hungry children around the world by sending them hand-packed meals specially designed to maximize nourishment of young, malnourished bodies.

Consistent with its longstanding commitment to community giving, Gray Plant Mooty attorneys and staff will continue to contribute time and energy throughout 2016 to support area charities and organizations.
