

New Appleman on Insurance Law: Robyn Anderson, Kimberly Winter and Jessica Merrigan on Environmental Insurance

October 2010

By Robyn L. Anderson, Kimberly K. Winter, Jessica E. Merrigan

With climate change, weather-related catastrophes, energy shortfalls, and a historically large oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico, it is no surprise that businesses and individuals are rapidly and collectively joining in a resurgence of environmentalism. Businesses depend on insurance to help guard against the many kinds of environmental risk and liability that exist. Environmental risks and liabilities exist not only in the...read more
