Accountant Liability & Risk Management

Our team has a vast and diverse background of experience in the accounting industry.

For several decades, we have been defending and advising accounting firms, ranging from small and local to large and regional, on professional liability claims, business and employment matters, and professional discipline issues. We also have extensive experience in representing individuals and firms before a number of State Accountancy Boards and other regulatory agencies; and advise firms regularly on compliance issues.

Because of our experience in the industry, our approach is to work alongside our clients to proactively resolve issues before they become a problem. We routinely advise and counsel accounting firms on risk management issues unique to the accounting industry.
